Dairymen's League Reelect Titus— Haselton Addresses Meeting

Annual meeting held in Grange Hall Monday—Director Herbert Seeley also speaks—Oyster dinner precedes meeting—Other business.

Lewis Titus was reelected president of the Addison local of the Dairymen's League at the annual meeting held Monday afternoon in the Grange Hall. An oyster dinner preceded the business meeting and election of officers. Others elected for the coming year are: Vice president, Ralph Hand; secretary-treasurer, Hobart Coon.

Haselton Speaks
I. W. Haselton, division representative of Elmira was the speaker of the day. He spoke of marketing agreements now in force in New York, Buffalo, Rochester and one being worked out for Albany. He said in part: "Progress has been so rapid in the past two and one-half years that you have not stopped to think of all that has happened."

Legislation—Propaganda
"Two things which may come to break up the Federal-State Marketing Order will be legislation and propaganda. To date no laws affecting milk have been introduced in the Legislature, but unless you tell your legislators what is going on in your district they may not know what is going on. Rhoda Fox Graves, member of the state legislative body for several years and opposed to the Dairymen's League and member of the Dairy Farmers Union is dissatisfied with the present agreement and threatens introduction of laws restraining the administrator. The producers, working through dealers or dealers through producers can break down the agreement, but dealers alone cannot break it down."

Mr. Haselton presented charts to show what the agreement has done for producers since being in effect and of the fact that Dairy Farmers Union officials did nothing to help the farmers until rising prices were in effect.

He continued, "In November of 1939 producers delivered over 25 million more pounds of milk to New York than in 1938."

"Some dealers are claiming that if the marketing order is abolished the producers will receive more money. This was not demonstrated when the agreement was invalidated by the courts last year."

Publicity
"The administrator has engaged a newspaper man, past secretary of the state weekly publishers' association to build up good will among newspapers of the state for the

Sterling Cole To Investigate U. S. Navy

Washington, Jan. 17.—(Special)—Controversies raging backstage over the efficiency of the U. S. Navy and the need for extensive and costly construction demanded by Secretary Edison and Admiral Harold G. Stark will be brought into the open by a special sub-committee of the House Naval Affairs Committee of which W. Sterling Cole, representative from the 37th District, is a member. This is the most important assignment yet conferred on the Bath Congressman.

Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, decided to accede to the popular demand for an investigation of the entire naval program and selected Mr. Cole and Colgate Darden of Virginia to assist him. When the magnitude of the work was surveyed it was decided to increase the committee to five and Melvin Maas of Minnesota and William Jacobson of Iowa were added.

Mr. Cole's extensive legal training has made him a much desired member of several investigating committees and he has served on a number of the more important including the one that considered the chain store situation. His latest assignment will require a great amount of special work and entail heavy responsibility as drastic changes in naval operations may be recommended by this group.

Mr. Cole, as a result of personal inspection of Pacific Coast defenses, has felt that some increase in naval armament was needed but is said to be unimpressed by the supposed threat of a "world conflagration" suggested by Admiral Stark in his request for $1,300,000,000 to expand the fleet. The Bath Congressman says he stands for adequate defense in every detail but opposes a reckless increase in armament when the nation's back is breaking under the present tax burdens.

Charges made and admitted that several cruisers were of defective construction and that costly changes had to be made before they could be trusted at sea, will be probed by Mr. Cole and the committee. Their report may have far-reaching consequences in naval activities as well as result in a reduction in taxation proposed for naval construction.

Mrs. James Gregg Dies in Utica— Former Resident

She has since lived there. Mr. Gregg died about seven years ago.

STABILIZING MILK

Farmers are enjoying a little better price for milk this winter, and with no serious threats of strikes to upset the flow of milk to market the changes of prosperous days in the dairying section are better than for a long time. The Milk Control Order is apparently working along quite smoothly now and dealers seem to be more inclined to cooperate than before the thing was threshed out in the courts.

However, farmers should not let themselves be lulled into any false impression that all their troubles are over. There is still a great danger looming up, and strangely enough this danger is one which can come of their own making. The greatest danger facing dairymen today is the danger they will overdo a good thing and increase the volume of milk production past the saturation point of the market. This has happened often in the past and will happen again unless the farmers do something themselves to prevent a recurrence.

Government control can go only so far, beyond that point it would reach the state of dictation which no free American farmer would welcome.
The final, real cure for their ills will come when dairymen are ready to adjust their own differences and cooperate fully in marketing their milk.
A local dairyman has voiced his belief in a method which promises more than any outside force could accomplish. The plan is simply that every producer of whole milk should agree to a quota and put no more milk on the market than his quota provided. If he marketed 10,000 pounds of milk in a month when he was only supposed to market 9,000 the price he received for the 10-000 would be less than the net he would have obtained from the smaller amount. Of course in a time of milk shortage the dairyman would be allowed to market more than his quota, so long as the market did not become flooded. Surplus milk would be kept for use on the farm, or it would be manufactured into milk products.

The plan is simple compared with many of the nostrums which have been suggested for the cure of our milk troubles. Its initiation would require the complete cooperation of all producers of fluid milk. Eventually the dairymen must learn to trust each other and cooperate fully together if milk production is to be stabilized at a profitable level. If the Milk Administrator can draw the various factions together until they are ready to cooperate he will have done a man-sized job.

IN MEMORY

During the past few days this community suffered three district shocks as we learned of the successive deaths of Asa T. Smith, Fred G. Clark and Mrs. Lynn A. Taylor. Each of the three deaths struck hundreds here with the keen edge of a great personal loss, for each had lived a life which merited the love of their fellow citizens.
Each will be missed and mourned so long as their generation clings to the cord of memory.

To those nearest these departed friends goes our deepest sympathy. They alone, can measure the full depth of this triple loss, for their privilege it was to have intimate family ties with princely souls.

NO "SUPER NAVY" NEEDED

It is refreshing to see many members of Congress are in a frame of mind to inquire deeply into the huge expenditure bill the President and the Navy would saddle on the country. Congressman Cole of this district is among the number who apparently believe there is such a thing as overdoing this ship building race which is another way of spending great sums of money, under the label of "national defense".

Certainly every thinking person desires to see his country have an adequate navy for defense.
But there is room for considerable difference of opinion as to what is an adequate navy. Certainly we have enough ships to cope with any imaginary attack from Japan, and we have even less to fear from the sea force of Germany, Italy or Russia. This leaves only the sea force of Britain and France to be reckoned with and it would take a wild imagination, indeed to conceive of these powers launching an attack on our country.

Further, if we manage to stay out of this war we will find our sea strength is relatively more formidable than ever, for the warring nations are losing plenty of ships in the fight. Their navies are necessarily growing weaker and ours gets stronger. To vastly increase our program now while we are learning vital lessons of the vulnerability of warships is to let hysteria replace reason.

The program of increased naval strength initiated last year should be adequate. We have a greater danger of fiscal collapse than we have from attack by sea from any antagonistic power, for if the present war continues two years there will not be enough money in all the European war chests to finance a combined attack upon us, fantastic though the idea actually may be.

ANOTHER "TEA TAX"

February 1 will be a big day for many older citizens, for on that day the Federal government will start paying out the first old-age pensions.
To be eligible for the benefits one must have been 65 or over by January 1, must have worked in six different calendar quarters since the end of 1936 and must have earned $50 or more in each of those quarters. Pensioners may continue to work after qualifying, providing they don't earn more than $15 a month.

So the "paying" part of "social security" is soon to be started. That is, the paying of benefits, for there has been a lot of paying done by both employers and employees since the law was first passed. This money has been paid into what was supposed to have become a big reserve fund, but actually this money has been used to defray ordinary government expenses.

The social security law as written is both unwieldy and unjust and many officials of both parties are now convinced it must be changed.
The provision which would establish a sinking fund of more than 50 billions invested in government bonds is in itself merely an invitation to profligate office holders to pile up the national debt. To force employees to pay their money into the fund over a long period of years has little appeal to many of them who would prefer to invest in some form of life insurance instead, where the rights are more flexible and the savings are not at the beck and call of politicians, unscrupulous as well as honest ones.

The law is particularly unjust to business which is saddled with a direct tax upon pay rolls. This is far more burdensome to small business than to large. A big business can sometimes pass this levy on to the consumer through higher prices, but this is practically impossible to a majority of the smaller firms and many a man struggling along with a payroll has found the social security tax was a millstone around his neck pulling him under. To the man who has to pay the tax on his pay roll social security is as unjust and obnoxious as the British tax on tea was to our Revolutionary Fathers.

THE PRICE OF LIBERTY

A short time ago Joseph Stalin, dictator of Communist Russia, was reelected to his seat on the Moscow municipal soviet. His majority was exactly 100 per cent—every vote was cast for him. According to the press dispatch telling of this, it was obvious that the most strenuous methods were used by officials to get out the largest possible vote.

Those who have watched the technique of dictatorship can judge what those methods were—you support the man in the saddle "or else". And this little event, while it doesn't make the headlines, is a biting commentary on what happens when the people surrender their rights and liberties to iron-clad political rule. No one attempts to win over the opposition by argument, as in a democratic nation—after all, machine guns, exile and brutal persecution are temporarily more effective instruments for keeping in power. The man who raises his voice in dissent gets short shrift indeed.

Here in America we pride ourselves on the fact that we may still speak our minds—that no man is master of our destinies—that the forces of dictatorship have been kept firmly in leash.
But pride in this is not enough. It cannot too often be repeated that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance at home. We can unconsciously surrender rights until one day we awake to realize, too late, that liberty is gone.

America watches events abroad with wonder and horror. Let America also learn from them.

THUMBS DOWN

The proposed St. Lawrence Seaway would strike a disastrous blow at basic, established American business—to say nothing of the burdens which would be imposed upon the general taxpayer to build and maintain it. That is the opinion of C. H. Callaghan, manager of the Maritime Association of the Port of New York.

Mr. Callaghan listed six distinct reasons why the waterway should not be built. First, he said, it is commercially and economically unsound.
Second, it would impose excessive tax burdens without corresponding benefits. Third, it would divert an immense amount of traffic from American transportation systems, including the railroads, steamship lines and motor trucks. Fourth, it would unbalance rail, water and highway freight rates. Fifth, it would have a detrimental effect upon employment, purchasing power, and industry generally. Sixth, it would impair property and rental values, thus reducing tax returns to all units of government.

That is a severe indictment. Yet it is not more severe than other authorities believe justified.
Certainly there is no lack of adequate transportation in the territory the seaway could serve. And there can be no honest excuse for spending untold millions of tax money for a project which would simply compete with existing transportation agencies which cost taxpayers nothing. It is estimated that the seaway would divert 3,500,000 tons of traffic from the railroads alone each year.

Congress has shelved the St. Lawrence seaway in the past. And Congress should follow its own excellent example when the proposal comes up again.

PLENTY MORE TO DO

Open Letter to the Editor

I should like to send this message to the parents and other citizens of Addison through you. As one of the ministers of this town who has been very much interested in setting up the Week Day Religious Instruction for the children of the 2 to 6 grades I want to thank you for the cooperation your paper and staff gave us in this work, for it never would have worked so successfully without the help of the press.

But there is another matter which is of great importance if not more so than this. The clergy of Addison felt they had the cooperation of the parents and friends in the town when it was suggested the children be given religious instruction in the churches one day a week. The school authorities were very kind and gracious in their assistance to us, and everyone seemed to enter into this project with a great amount of enthusiasm and helpfulness for the sake of the children. But there is still more to be done by all the adults of Addison if they wish to raise the present generation of children in the fear and understanding of the Lord. A child learns best by seeing an example set for him, and the ministers of the town can teach all they can in forty minutes but if the lives and examples of the townpeople do not coincide with the instructions they receive in religion on Wednesday afternoons much of the benefit is lost and forgotten by the child.

Therefore, I am writing to you and thus through you to the people of Addison urging them to set a proper example before the lives of the 110 or more children in the four grades receiving religious instruction in the churches of Addison.
This example may begin by their attendance at the worship services of the churches in Addison from now until Easter at least. A parent cannot set a better example for their children than to get ready together and go together to the church for the worship service on Sunday morning and evening. I am not making this plea for the sake of the churches, but for the children of Addison who have shown their desire to learn more about Christ and Christianity. I should like to close with the words of Christ Himself who said: "But who so shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that

Free Training
For Youth

More than 40,000 students from all parts of the world have received tuition-free training at The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, founded 53 years ago by D. L. Moody, noted evangelist. In these years thousands of graduates have entered special Christian service as pastors, evangelists, Bible teachers, directors of Christian education, gospel song leaders, Sunday School superintendents and teachers in churches of nearly all denominations. More than 2,100 have gone out as missionaries to 70 foreign countries under various church boards. Twelve of these have met death as martyrs, while 1,400 are still on the field.

Last year nearly 3,000 attended the Day and Evening Schools, and 13,000 were enrolled in the Correspondence School. The Bible is the principal textbook, but courses are offered also in Sunday School Administration, Gospel Music, Public Speaking, Home Economics, Manual Training, Homiletics, Apologistics, Greek, Hebrew, and medical subjects for missionary work.

There are three terms a year—fall, winter and summer. An illustrated catalogue will be mailed on request. Address: 153 Institute

We've Had Enough Of This Fellow!

WITH the Legislature now in session and preparation of the executive budget nearing completion, New York motorists are scanning the political skies for a sign of some measure of tax relief. Motor vehicle taxpayers point out that the abolition of the State's deficit at the end of the current fiscal year, which a year ago amounted to $23,000,000, plus collections from the new tax on pari-mutuels, should create a surplus of at least $33,000,000, sufficient to allow both of the emergency gasoline taxes to lapse on their present expiration date, June 30, 1940.

3-Plank Platform Seeks Welfare of All Children

Albany, Jan. 16—The most vital long-range problem before the citizens of New York State today is education. Today's children will be adults tomorrow. If they are well educated today, fewer of them will be a charge on the community tomorrow.

Fewer of them will demand the attention of police, courts, and penal and corrective institutions. Fewer of them will be on relief. Fewer of them will be easy prey for demagogues who preach unAmerican isms.

More of them will be able to live full, well-rounded lives. More of them will become good citizens.
More of them will develop into leaders who believe in American institutions and the American way of life.

Realizing that better education makes better citizens, a non-partisan, state-wide Council on Educational Standards is being formed to see that New York State does not scrimp on opportunity for education offered its children. Frank Parker Stockbridge is chairman.

The platform of the Council of Educational Standards is a simple one, containing these three planks:

1. Full state aid for schools, including kindergartens, from the Legislature.

2. A supplemental appropriation to make up part of the deficit caused by the cut in state aid.

3. Adequate local educational appropriations.

Last spring and summer the Legislature thought it saw a way to cut the state budget "painlessly" by reducing state aid to education by nearly $10,000,000. Educators at the time pointed out that the cut could not be made without seriously disrupting public education in all parts of the state. The cut, nevertheless, became law.

Most communities in the state have had to increase local taxes on real estate to make up for the cut in state aid. Many communities have had to reduce or eliminate important parts of their educational program. Needed repairs in school buildings have not been made.
Needed equipment and supplies have not been bought. Needed courses of study have had to be abandoned.
The poorest communities in the state have been hardest hit because of their greater dependence on state aid. In city areas pupils have had to sit two in a seat, and classes have been too large for good educational results. Speaking for the Council on Educational Standards, Mr. Stockbridge said: "We invite the cooperation of all good citizens in the state. Education is a non-partisan question. The whole state will prosper if all of its children have a chance to develop."

First Year Summary
of 4-H Club Work

1939 was the first year of 4-H Club work in Steuben County. During the year, 41 4-H Clubs throughout the county carried out a well-rounded program including instruction along the lines of agriculture, home economics and parliamentary procedure as well as social and recreational activities. These clubs have become a permanent part of their community, not only as an educational group but as an active body of young people which can and does cooperate with churches, schools and other organizations for the betterment of their community. The combined clubs have held over 500 meetings during the past year under the direction of 65 different men and women voluntarily acting as leaders.

In addition to local 4-H Club activities, each 4-H Club boy or girl has carried out one or more agricultural or homemaking projects.
Nearly 80 per cent of the entire membership satisfactorily completed their projects, handing into the 4-H Club Office a record of receipts and expenses incurred. Nearly 900 farm visits were made by the club agent in regard to agricultural projects and organization work.

County-wide or sectional meetings for 4-H boys and leaders were held with agricultural specialists from the College of Agriculture as special guests. An unusually large attendance at all these meetings signifies the interest of our young people in keeping abreast of up-to-date methods of farming. Some of the subjects covered at these meetings were:
Judging sheep, swine, cattle, horses; nomenclature of sheep, swine, cat-tles and horses; fitting livestock for show; blocking and trimming sheep for show; culling and judging poultry for production and show; rearing and feeding baby chicks and pullets; grading potatoes into fancy, U. S. No. 1 and other grades; identification of insects and diseases of potatoes; control of insects and diseases of potatoes; judging vegetables and potatoes; identification of garden seeds and weeds; identification of varieties of potatoes and vegetables.

Of special interest is the fact that as a result of the meetings on potato grading, many 4-H boys are selling their potatoes graded to meet requirements of a fancy grade in specially trade-marked 10-pound bags—approximately 2000 bags being sold to date. Steuben County has sold more in this manner at a premium price than any other New York State county.

Over 500 members and leaders attended both the spring and fall rallies, while 650 4-H exhibits were made at the Steuben County Fair by the boys and girls.

A 4-H leaders' banquet this fall drawed nearly 100 per cent of the

LOOKING FORWARD

The measure of greatness of any party leadership of a country is the measure in which it gets done in its time the big job that has to be done."

So said President Roosevelt in his Jackson Day speech. He was quite correct. Performance of the task at hand—not glittering generalities and honeyed words—is the yardstick of whether the party leadership in power has served the Nation. Let's hold that yardstick up to the New Deal to ascertain how it measures.

What was the big job before the Roosevelt Administration when it came into power in 1933? Briefly stated it was to restore this country to a sound economic recovery. More specifically it was to end unemployment; to restore farm prices to parity; to raise the national income to its previous levels and even higher and to stop deficit financing. In short, to put our governmental and economic house in order.

What Platform Assorted

"The only hope for improving present conditions, restoring employment, affording permanent relief to the people and bringing the Nation back to its former proud position of domestic happiness and of financial, industrial, agricultural and commercial leadership in the world lies in a drastic change in economic and governmental policies." Was the way the 1932 Democratic Platform put it.

Has this Nation been brought back to "its former proud position" of economic leadership in the world?
In 1938—the last full year comparative figures available—our industrial production was 72 per cent of what it had been in 1929, while that of the United Kingdom was 11.6 per cent; that of little Poland 11.8 per cent; that of Denmark 13.6 per cent; Finland 15.6 per cent; Sweden 14.6 per cent; Japan 17.3 per cent; Germany 12.6 per cent; Italy 9.8 per cent, and Canada 9.0 per cent.

Indeed of the 21 nations listed in the Monthly Statistical Bulletin of the League of Nations, only Belgium's industrial production, on the basis of 1929, was lower than that of the United States. Is this getting done "the big job that has to be done"?

Unemployment Problem Unsolved Speaking at Baltimore in 1932, Mr. Roosevelt placed the number of unemployed at 10,000,000. He declared it was a doctrine of despair—that it was pessimism—"hair-shirt hypocrisy"—to say there was "no hope for a restoration of normal employment for these ten million people".

Whatever the hope, the fact is that for almost eight years under Mr. Roosevelt our army of unemployed has totaled 10,000,000 or more—indeed it has on occasion been much higher. Only recently, due to the war in Europe, has the figure dropped slightly below 10-000,000. Is that getting done "the big job that has to be done"?

Restoration of farm prices to parity was the goal which the New Deal set for itself. Has that "big job" been done? In his budget message to Congress this year, Mr.
Roosevelt said that "despite a gratifying general increase in farm income, agriculture is still not receiving its proper share of national income". He added the "hopes" that "next year's crops can be sold by their producers for at least 75 per cent of parity".

Confession of Failure After seven long years, with a war in Europe, Mr. Roosevelt says he "hopes" farm production will get 75 per cent of parity for their crops.
The confession of failure is in his own words, which are confirmed by statistics that show American farm income was $1,500,000,000 a year less, on the average, in the Roosevelt Administration than during the same number of preceding years. Is that getting done "the big job that has to be done"?

Recently the Commerce Department, in the name of Secretary Harry Hopkins who is a very ill man and has not been at his office for months, estimated the national income for 1939 at $69,500,000,000. This figure was less than in 1937 and was some $14,000,000,000 less than in 1929. Indeed, it was substantially less than the national income in any year from 1925 to 1930, inclusive. Is that getting done "the big job that has to be done"?

If getting done the "big job that has to be done" is the measuring stick—and the President proposed it—then the New Deal is a demonstrated failure. Not only has it been a failure, but as evidenced in his two recent speeches Mr. Roosevelt is bankrupt in ideas and plans for the future. Though he denies it, he is giving way to defeatism and despair, undertaking to laugh off his failure when not feebly seeking to defend it.

Summer Drouth Sets Record For This Vicinity Says Miller

Woodhull weather observer says year 1939 was driest in 27 years and 157-day drouth period establishes record in weather bureau — Snow records for past years given for comparison.

The rainfall deficiency from the period of April 22 to September 25 in this area was the greatest in the history of the United States Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau according to Arthur E. Miller, Woodhull, official rainfall observer for this area. During the 157 days of the now famous drouth the total rainfall was but 6.8 inches or 10.71 below the normal rainfall for a similar period according to Weather Bureau reports, which go back for over 50 years. Therefore, it can be assumed, that when people were talking about the drouth here, they had something to talk about and wells in the vicinity are still dry.

The precipitation deficiency was outstanding for the year past for the total rainfall was only 27.38 inches which is 7.20 inches below the normal set up by the Department on the basis of records kept for several years. This establishes a record for the past 27 years. The year of 1911 was drier when the total rainfall was 27.10 inches or 7.48 inches below the normal rainfall.

Incidentally the records of Mr. Miller show that the average or mean temperature for 1939 was 41.1 degrees which is 2 degrees above normal. Snow fall since January 1 has averaged about five inches in this territory. The vicinity is better off than some and worse than others for his records show that in the Chemung area the snowfall was but one inch while in the Franklin area they received nine inches of snow.

ADDISON, R. D. 3

The death of Archibald Manley Wilson, age 70, occurred Monday afternoon, January 15, at his home here.

Mr. Wilson had been in ill health for some time, but his condition had not been considered critical until Thursday morning when he suffered a severe shock from which he did not rally.

Mr. Wilson was born June 25, 1869 in the Town of Tuscarora, the son of William and Mary Manley Wilson. Nearly his entire life was spent in this vicinity where he engaged in farming.

In early life he was married to Helen Luella Dickerson of Tuscarora, who survives him. He is also survived by one son, Bernard at home, and five daughters, Mrs. Marie Oakden of Monticello, Mrs. Verna Smith, Mrs. Marie Smith, Mrs. Coral Brennan and Mrs. Eleanor Cisco all of the Town of Lindley. One brother Harold Wilson of Addison; several grand children and several nieces and nephews. Another son, Gerald Wilson, died about six years ago.

The funeral will be held at the family home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Burial will be at Addison.

George Stevens has purchased a new tractor and Meaker Morse has purchased the tractor which Mr. Stevens formerly had.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Huggins spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Cisco.

Donald Hadlock was employed in Addison last week helping fill the Renken ice house.

Mrs. Harry Cisco and daughter Laura Elizabeth spent Sunday with friends in Addison.

Miss Elizabeth Morse former resident of this place, is seriously ill at her home in Bath.

Mrs. Mord Smith and son Stanley were in Corning on business Friday morning.

Ben Casson called at the Wilson home Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Huggins spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cisco and George Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherill Huggins and two children visited her mother, Mrs. Sadie Wixon Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mord Morse of Corning recently called on his brother, Meaker Morse.

Records for the Weather Bureau in the possession of Mr. Miller reveal some interesting facts for review. In the past 10 years the greatest snowfall has been 47 inches in the winter of 1933-34. In the previous ten-year period the greatest snowfall was 64.3 inches with four years of the ten having over 60 inches of snow. Then in the next ten-year period, from 1908 to 1918 the greatest snowfall year was 1915-16 with 77.4 inches of snow and the last year of the period 19.2 inches. However during this period five years had over 60 inches of snow.

Now something for the old timers to muse upon. In the ten-year period from 1898 to 1908 the highest snowfall was 70 inches and during that period only four years were over 60 inches of snow recorded and the average for the period was 50.4 inches which was below the three periods above mentioned.

Then if you care to go back a few more years the ten-year period to 1888 shows the highest snowfall to be 68 inches and the lowest 24 inches with an average of 51.16 inches. So that the conclusion is that snows are just as heavy now and have been heavier in the lives of the present generation as in those of past generations. For the present year, being accepted for the average of the past ten years has been but 39 inches. The average for the year since 1900 has been 49.9 inches per year.

Farm Listings For Rehabilitation Sought Here

Do you have a good farm to rent? Would you like to rent it to a farmer who is following approved farm management practices as a participant in the rehabilitation program of the Farm Security Administration?

If the answer to both these questions is "Yes," you are invited to list these farms now, for consideration of FSA borrowers, with Charles Will, Rural Rehabilitation Supervisor, who has office hours at the Post Office Building, Bath, on Thursdays between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M.

"Every winter about this time, many borrowers who are forced to move to other farms appeal to us to help them and a farm suitable for their particular needs," Mr. Will explained. "We are therefore preparing a list of good farms for rent in Steuben County. It will be to the interest of landlords to have their available farms included on this list. It goes without saying that no obligation will be incurred by an owner whose farm is rented as a result of this listing."

Mr. Will also pointed out that, because of the trained supervision and encouragement to build up the soil which are given farmers in the rehabilitation program, more than one landlord has expressed the opinion that having one of these FSA borrowers on his farm is a better investment than renting to the average independent tenant.

Farm management plans worked out by the borrowers with the assistance of the supervisors are often discussed with the landlord, and improved tenure arrangements are encouraged.

Willard Keenley, a jobless truckman and the father of two children and last week his wife presented him triplets in a Syracuse hospital. His concern when interviewed was over the washing he was doing for the first two children, rather than the reporter's interest in his triplets.

I have heard several New Year's resolutions fall and break. Some went with a bang and others just fell gently as they were broken gradually.

Addison sure had milk meetings during the past week. There were only thirty out to hear the organizer and secretary of the Dairy Farmers' Union here Saturday night and from what I can gather nothing was given to them in the way of a program.

Congratulations to Mrs. Clarence Williams of Cameron, who has reached the age of 93 and is still able to enjoy living.

It is wonderful to see persons beyond the four score and ten enjoying life. Many times we think of them as lonesome, ill and house-bound. And when we do see one who is alive, alert and active it makes us congratulate them for being so hale and robust.

The old coal bin has been taking quite a licking during the past few days with zero weather being reported in the vicinity. And that Steuben Street wind blowing from the Canisteo River is not the most pleasant thing in the world either.

You have just completed giving to the Red Cross and I hope you have sent your Christmas seal money in and donated to the Finnish Relief Fund. And of course you have donated to your church for home and foreign missions. Better give to these than to have it taken from you in taxes as in many countries. Now you are asked to donate to the infantile Paralysis campaign, and your dime or dime, added to thousands and hundreds of thousands of others will help a big program.

That's all.

The body was brought to the home of his brother, Timothy Tobin, Maple street, from where burial services were held Wednesday morning and later from St. Catherine's Church. Interment was in St. Catherine's Cemetery.

Turning The Dial
Wonder how long Jack Benny would remain at the top of the heap of radio entertainers if "Rochester" left the program? Our heartiest laughs come when he bursts upon the scene.

It seems like a far cry from the homely philosophy of Amos an' Andy, whose programs were the essence of purity, to the now present Bob Hope program which becomes increasingly risqué. Hope should be reminded that his bigger audience listens over the radio, and the studio crowd is just a small group of curiosity and autograph seekers, who pay their way by shouting and whistling.

We listen, with regularity, to the uncanny "Information Please" program, and marvel each week that such minds can and do exist. It is stimulating to know that the accomplishments we once sought are within the realm of hope. Our vote goes to that small group of master-minders: Fadiman, Kieran, Lavant, etc., etc. They are tops in our league.

It is our opinion that to much giggle and pash were responsible for Ameco and Lamour getting the note on the Sunday night program. Now, if the program writers will let Dixon sing a few of the appealing ballads, we feel sure that the popularity of coffee-drinking will come back, thanks to Charlie McCarthy.

A few days of forced idleness spent at home—listening to friend wife's programs—and one gets the sense that cleanliness comes so easy with the varied soap brands that water and effort are not necessary. And you are apt to find yourself nibbling a cake of soap when that urge to eat comes round.

Avoca—Mrs. S. H. Wyckoff died at the age of 101.

CAPITOL SHADOWS

By W. STERLING COLE
Congressman 37th District,
New York

Third Session, 76th Congress

The third session of the 76th Congress is now a living reality with the fall of the gavel at 12 noon, January 3, 1940 and is the beginning of what may prove to be one of the most interesting sessions of recent years. The mere fact that 1940 is election year, will to a considerable degree, see many of the activities of Congress dominated by political motives. Everywhere the question is asked "What kind of a session will it be? How long will it last?" While the present foreign situation calls for the utmost attention on the part of our leaders, our domestic ills and difficulties cannot be forgotten, shelved or ignored. The following important items should be and must be considered by the Congress: 1. Extension of Trade Agreements. 2. National Defense. 3. Agricultural Problems. 4. New Taxes. 5. Amending or clarifying various controversial laws already on the statute books, such as National Labor Relations Board, Social Security, Wage and Hour Act. 6. Reduce spending by cutting appropriations. 7. Continuation of the Dies Committee.

Finland
One of the principal sources of discussion around the Capitol relates to the suggestion that the U. S. Government make a loan to Finland, so as to enable that little country to equip and furnish their army and in general to defend themselves against Russia. While a vast majority of our people seem to be extraordinarily sympathetic toward Finland, the granting of a loan at this particular time raises several important questions. Some argue that if we intend to help Finland and actually do so, we would violate the recently enacted neutrality act. Some say that if we do this, we should have also stepped in and lent a helping hand to Austria, Czechoslovakia, Albania and Poland against their aggressors. At any rate, we have not forgotten that Finland is the only country that has kept up its payments of principal and interest on its war debt.

Deaths in Congress
Since the adjournment of the last session of Congress a few weeks ago and the opening of the third session on January 3, eight deaths have occurred in the membership of the House of Representatives, making a total of twenty for this Congress. Heart disease has been the cause of death in each case, except one. Either the Members of Congress are under an exceptional strain, do not get enough proper exercise or they grow old too fast.

Would Withdraw From Russia
Representative Stephen Bolles, Republican of Wisconsin, has introduced a resolution in the House proposing to prohibit the expenditure of Federal funds for the maintenance of the American Embassy in Moscow. The adoption of such a resolution would virtually sever diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

Senator Glass
Senator Carter Glass, that grand old man in the Senate from Virginia was 82 on January 4th. He claims to be feeling fine and chipper. Recently he is credited with making the following statement: "If the next world is a better place than this, I will be agreeably surprised and appreciative, if it is worse, it will be what I deserved."

William Tyler Page
In December, 1831, a young boy employed as a printer's devil in Frederick, Md., came to the Capitol to work as a page boy in the halls of Congress. To date that gentleman has witnessed the opening of 72 sessions of Congress, regular and extraordinary. From page boy he went to work in the Clerk's Office, May, 1919 to December, 1931. As author of the American's Creed his name will go down in history as a great American, if for no other reason. His service for a period of over 50 years renders him invaluable on Capitol Hill and he remains in a position of trust and responsibility within the ranks of the minority party counseling members on most every conceivable legislative matter. In 1881, Mr. Page relates that the total receipts of our government were 300 million dollars and expenditures 250 million. That left a balance of 50 million to the good, resulting in the burning question of that day "what will we do with the surplus?" This was during Cleveland's first administration.

Legislative Proposals
There has been introduced in the House of Representatives since the convening of the 76th Congress on January 3, 1939 and including the legislative day of January 3, 1940, 7,691 House Bills, 402 House Joint Resolutions and 337 House Resolutions.

Need of Civilian Finns Growing, Barnum Asserts

SYRACUSE, Jan. 17.—(Special)—The need for money to provide for destitute non-combatants in Finland is growing more urgent hourly. Jerome D. Barnum, upstate chairman for the Finnish Relief fund, asserted today, basing his statement on reports just received from relief workers in the beleaguered little republic.

Although $600,000 has been sent to Finland, the need is increasing instead of relaxing, Mr. Barnum said, after receiving from Herbert Hoover, national chairman of the fund, a report cabled by F. Dorsey Stephens, Helsinki representative.

Stephens' report, the most comprehensive description of suffering among Finnish civilians yet received in this country, arrived exactly one month after former President Hoover issued his national appeal to the American people.

"The need for money to provide food," cabled Stephens, "grows more urgent momentarily." The refugees, he added, are also suffering from lack of sufficient clothing "in this bitter sub-zero weather."

Refugees had to be evacuated so hurriedly from the war zone in Kuopio province, he reported, that they are "practically possessionless," but "they show a wonderful spirit."

"In spite of the suffering, there have been no complaints," Stephens continued, "and pathetically touching are the expressions of gratitude for the help they have been receiving from America."

Stephens told of a visit to a village where a woman "whose man was with the army at the front" was quartering 65 refugees on her small farm. Three and four families were living in one room. She was feeding a total of 93 refugees—50 of them children under 12.

One roomful of people had only a single overcoat between them. When one had to go outside he took the coat, and the others awaited his return.

"The Finnish government is doing a marvelous job of caring for civilian non-combatants," he added, "but with very limited resources. They are keeping whole communities together. When the people burn their village in the path of the advancing Russian army, all are taken to another village so that they will not feel completely lost. As fast as possible, they are given jobs so that they can support themselves at useful work which will help Finland keep its freedom."

"The communities, which receive refugees first divide with them all of their spare clothing—overcoats, underwear, mufflers, sweaters." Stephens was visiting "the small, absolutely open, undefended town of Suonenjoki," when it was raided by Russian bombers. The town, harboring more than 600 refugees, was strafed by machine guns, he asserted.

"Mr. Hoover," concluded Mr. Barnum, "assures me that the fund will continue to send money to Finland as speedily as possible, in view of the emergency situation apparent from Stephens' report."

"Obviously, however, his ability to do this is dependent on the immediate response from communities such as this throughout upstate New York."

"That New York State citizens will need this appeal for immediate help is evident in reports coming to me from every part of the state."

"Cash contributions are requested because donations of food and clothing cannot reach Finland quickly," said Mr. Barnum.

This Week In Sports

It looks as though Addison is going to take another League basketball championship this season with victories over most of the teams in the league recorded to date. Another cup for the trophy case will look all right.

Ernie Lombardi, best remembered as the Cincinnati Reds catcher who staged a one man sit down strike at home plate during the last world's series received a contract with a $6,000 cut. And now he is on another strike and has sent the contract back, unsigned. It is believed the new contract called for $14,000.

Stanford University on the Pacific Coast has given a five-year football coaching contract to Clark D. Shaughnessy, Chicago mentor. It is expected he will begin work in the spring football practice sessions. Chicago U. abandoned football after a disastrous season. The Chicagoans one time ruled the Big Ten.

John Rowland, Snively's assistant at Cornell, has been hired to do some coaching at Citadel in Charleston, S. C. The contract is for one year. He has been assistant at Syracuse, Henderson and Oklahoma.

One of the biggest teams in basketball is the University of California, where the team average is six feet four inches. The star of the team is six foot six inches.

Ski schools are springing up rapidly throughout the United States with many foreign stars in the role of instructors. The Old Forge school in northern New York is becoming famous.

And speaking of foreign stars, a group of Finnish Athletes, many Olympic skaters, swimmers, runners and whatnot, are coming to America for a tour to raise funds for their homeland.

Portville—Charles Rivers has been arrested on a charge of forging checks.

EDUCATE YOUR CHILDREN Without Increasing Local Taxes

All of the money appropriated by the Legislature for State Aid to public education is returned to local school districts.

State Aid money comes from general taxes such as income tax, stock transfer tax, and sales and excise taxes on tobacco, spirits, automobiles, gasoline, etc.

In any one community, the cost of public education—other than that provided by State Aid—is met by local taxes, chiefly those on real estate.

A cross-section survey of New York State covering more than 300 school districts shows that because of last year's cut in State Aid:

77% of the school districts increased local real estate taxes. Other districts will have to impose increases in 1940.

42% had to cut educational services.

Full State Aid not only equalizes educational opportunities throughout the State but reduces the tax burden on local real estate. Thus, money collected from large wealthy communities helps to pay for education elsewhere.

Urge your local Assemblyman and Senator to vote for full State Aid for schools including kindergartens and for the supplemental appropriation to make up for last year's deficit, and thus help to insure the children in your community of a good education without increasing local taxes.

THE THINGS MEN DO—LIVE AFTER THEM

The passing of Asa T. Smith has created a deep sense of lasting personal loss in all who were associated with him. But, providentially, Mr. Smith had made arrangements to have the Funeral Establishment of H. P. Smith and Son carried on under the management of Jeffrey Smith who has been closely associated with him in the funeral work for the past six years. It will be the aim of those who carry on to give the same kind thought and deep consideration to the people of this community as the firm of H. P. Smith and Son have rendered during their forty-nine years of service.

Rev. David C. Graham, Chinese Missionary, Here Wednesday

Twenty-eight years ago, in October, 1911, Rev. D. C. Graham and Mrs. Graham sailed for China as missionaries under appointment by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society. They were designated to Suifu in West China, 1800 miles from the sea, where they carried on evangelistic and educational work. In 1932 they were transferred to Chengtu to the West China Union University where for the past seven years Dr. Graham has been associated with the faculty and the University Museum. The campus of West China University has become a haven of refuge for the faculty and student body of many of the universities of China who have been forced by war conditions to abandon their own campuses. This influx has brought into close association men of exceptional ability with highly trained, keen minds, both Chinese and foreign.

Dr. Graham's extensive anthropological investigations and his additions to the University Museum have made him a recognized authority along several lines. His studies in Chinese art and culture and in Chinese religion and history have gone back to very early times. He has published numerous pamphlets and articles dealing with the studies in Chinese culture and in anthropological research. Dr. Graham has also collected over 800,000 natural history specimens for museums in the United States. Many of these specimens are new and unusual.

Dr. Graham, a native of Arkansas, was graduated from Whitman College, B. A., 1908; Rochester Theological Seminary, B. D., 1916; University of Chicago, M. A., 1919; Ph.D., 1927. In addition to the above he has been honored with a D. Sc. from Whitman College. In 1929 in acknowledgment of his research work connected with the Museum at West China Union University he was elected a F.R.G.S. His long and varied experience in China has given him exceptional knowledge and understanding of the life of that land.

He will be in the Addison Baptist Church for a family night program next Wednesday night at 6:30.

School of Missions in Baptist Church

The Baptist Church of Addison has set up a school of missions and family fellowship evenings for their membership which will run on Wednesday evenings from January 10 to February 7 inclusive. Three of these evening meetings will begin with the church membership enjoying a family fellowship supper and the program will be around the table.

Wednesday, January 10 saw the first of these meetings begun successfully, with a supper and special music by Hubert Dinny. The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Paul Conrad, promotional director for the Baptist Churches in New York State. Rev. Conrad spoke briefly of the fine record of the Addison church in the past year in their growth and giving to the United Budget of the state. He spoke at some length on the task of the church in enlisting non-active members in the great work of the Kingdom of God and the necessity of reaching men with the Gospel of Christ. He said that men were hungry for something they didn't know what and the Christian church member must give them what they needed.

In closing Mr. Conrad spoke encouragingly of the work that was being done in the State of New York by the Baptist Churches and of the great work our Missionaries are doing in foreign lands. So enthusiastic and encouraging was he that when one left the meeting he felt that all the world wasn't falling apart and that there was some hope for the common man, and lots of work to be done by all.

The next meeting was held at 7:30 P. M. Wednesday, January 17 in the church auditorium and there was shown a series of slides on the mission work of David Livingstone in Africa. The colored slides were very beautiful and added much to the message of the evening with the pictures.

On Wednesday, January 24 it will be the privilege of the members of the church to gather again for a fellowship supper at 6:30 and at which time Dr. David C. Graham, recently returned missionary from West China will speak on his work there in the Far East. The time in

Knights Defeat Arkport 25-23 In Overtime

The Knights pulled one of those garrison finishes in defeating Arkport High here Tuesday night when Thomson dropped a two point bucket in an overtime period to give Addison the game in a dead man's finish where the first team scoring in the overtime period won the game. And Thomson was just as cool as the weather when he shot it and put the game in the victory column for Addison High. The Junior Varsity won 19 to 9. Whitmore was high scorer with 8 points.

The visitors stepped on the floor at the opening of the game and gave the few local fans a thrill when it was realized all of them were over six feet, a size only approached by three Addisonites. They opened the game and led at the quarter mark, four to three. The Knights took the lead in the second period and held that lead 12 to eight at the half way mark and 20 to 14 at the three-quarter mark. The visitors big guns, Olds and Bridge then went into action and with a fast passing attack brought the score to 23 all at the close of the game. This is the fourth game in which the Knights have tied on field goals and won on fouls.

This is also the halfway mark in the Knights' schedule for they have won five games, tied one and lost one to Corning, Northside. Savona will play here Tuesday.

Canisteo—The Rev. Paul V. Arow of the local Baptist Church has accepted a call to Canandaigua and leaves this week with his family.

Knights Trim Canisteo High Basketeers Friday 26 to 14

Game played on loser's court marred by one decision—Fans rush onto court but officials keep crowd under control—Thomson is outstanding man with 12 points scored from the field.

Addison Knights went to Canisteo Friday night and came home victors in a thrilling basketball game won from the Canisteo High team to the tune of 26 to 14. Thomson, alert and aggressive center for the Knights was the outstanding offensive and defensive man on the court that night and was also top scorer with six field goals.

Considerable action developed in one quarter when players became excited in a pileup and but for the quick work of players and coaches, trouble might have developed. However, as soon as play resumed, all was well and forgotten.

Canisteo began the scoring and quickly piled up eight points in the first quarter before Addison managed to get started. However, the locals evened the score at the quarter mark and then went into the lead in the second period and held the Canisteo five without a field basket for two periods.

Crawford was also fast on defense and between he and Thomson, handled the ball more than any players on the court. They kept the losers from getting into position for a set shot and the Canisteo squad only managed two set shots throughout the night.

Dominick brothers were held scoreless for Addison, being the only two of the local squad not scoring. The points for the losers were divided between five players with no one on the squad receiving over one field goal. Root shot fouls for Addison, scoring five of them.

Addison plays at Corning Northside Saturday.
